How is JM imagined?

- Structure has not been defined yet
- Mobility schemes and training/internship period are envisaged
- Interconnections between students, stakeholders and professors
- The Master should award a degree from a least two partner Universities

Activities:

1. Transnational network of stakeholders
2. Online meetings of the team
3. Study visits (Zagreb, Athena, Tirana)
4. National reports
5. Comparative reports and handbook - collection of the best practices on Ma SI and cooperations with business organizations)
6. Thematic webinars with a certificate of participation
7. Summer school
8. Disseminations

Funded by the European Union

01_

Young practitioners who are familiar with SI could engage in the project - summer school, take part in webinars as participants as well as lecturers

02_

Students as well as practitioners could enroll JM SI and have unique experience to study at universities in different countries - mobility

03_

Students will be able to be included in different projects and do their internship together with stakeholders.

04_

They would act as experts in social innovation and make important changes in societies in different areas
